This bibliography on Robben Island covers the known history of the Island from its earliest discovery until 1920 when the Infirmary for lepers, lunatics and the chronically ill was finally abandoned.

The bibliography does not claim to be exhaustive: illustrations and government publications have been excluded and no systematic search of newspapers was undertaken because of lack of time; newspaper articles are recorded only where the compiler was guided there by other references.

The Cape Town archives contain a large number of documents - mainly official correspondence - which could not be included in this limited work, but which are relative to the Island's history.

Annotations concerning the scope and content of the material have been made in nearly all cases. It was found to be impracticable to annotate certain of the works as fully as the others because of the vast amount of information they contained on all aspects of the Island's history. These works are Van Riebeek's journal, Theals Histories, Moodie's Records and Leibbrandt's precis of the archives of the Cape of Good Hope.

The compiler wishes to thank Mr. Frank Bradlow of Cape Town and the staff of the South African Public Library for all the kind assistance they gave.
ARRANGEMENT

The material collected has been divided into broad subject headings with sub-divisions. This division of the subject matter cannot be entirely satisfactory: most works contain information falling under more than one heading. "See also" references at the end of each section attempt to remedy this.

The items on the Travel section are arranged chronologically by the date of the period covered or date of publication. The remaining items are arranged alphabetically by author.

The numbers in the author index refer to items, not pages.

The location of each item is given. This does not mean that it is the only place where the item is available.

An asterisk indicates that the compiler has not handled the item.
