ADAPTIVE REUSE
OF INDUSTRIAL BUILDINGS,
WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO CAPE TOWN

VOLUME II

HADEWIG QUAGHEBEUR

A dissertation submitted for the degree of Master of Architecture

School of Architecture and Planning, Faculty of Engineering and the Built Environment, University of Cape Town

Cape Town, 2000
The copyright of this thesis vests in the author. No quotation from it or information derived from it is to be published without full acknowledgement of the source. The thesis is to be used for private study or non-commercial research purposes only.

Published by the University of Cape Town (UCT) in terms of the non-exclusive license granted to UCT by the author.
APPENDICES
APPENDIX B2: CASTLE BREWERY, WOODSTOCK
Fig. B2/1: Site of Castle Brewery and its industrial environment in 1961 (Source: Land Survey Department of Cape Town)
Fig. B.2.7 View from Lower Church Street bridge towards parking and common area

Fig. B.2.3: The space that was intended to be part of a pub.

Fig. B.2.4: The space at a sea freight company stop level of brewery building.
Fig. 925. A space used by a design chimney.
Fig. B2/5: View of adapted space for hair factory, to receive customers

Fig. B2/7: View from roof of brewery building, showing railway line and its connection with the City Bowl

Fig. E2/8: The entrance to the site with the security check point
Fig: B2/8. Ground floor of brewery building (1999), showing hardly any subdivisions (Source: Willem Olten)
Fig. B2/10: The new staircase, also used as fire escape.

Fig. B2/11: View of steel structure painted with fire-retarding paint (top floor).

Fig. B3/12: View of stairs leading to excavated space.
Fig. B2/13. A variety of buildings on the site.

Fig. B2/14. The detailed brickwork of the tower before the 1958 conversion.
Source: Wilm Grier.

Fig. B2/15. Rust brick flight inside of the Aizewell building, resembling a castle.
Fig. B2/17: The rundown state of the building before the 1984 conversion (detail of front façade).

Fig. B2/18: The building after the 1984 conversion (detail of front façade).
Fig. B2.19. Detail of window, showing: original cast iron post and windowsill.

Fig. B2.20. Detail of window, showing: new wooden post (in the old), new concrete window-jamb inside, and new blocks.

Fig. B2.21. Detail of brick wall, revealing some remnants of the layers of paint and plaster.
Fig. 62.25: View of original brewery building left and addition that was retained right.

Fig. 63.22: Remaining ridge door in front façade.
Fig. 02.04: A space subdivided by removable screens, leaving existing structure visible.

Fig. 02.05: New screens closing off openings in brick wall (ground floor).
APPENDIX B3: LONGKLOOF STUDIOS, GARDENS
Fig. B.3/1 Map of site of Nootgedacht farm and surroundings (ca. 1500), on an unknown later date the two main warehouses were added to this map, showing their position on the site of the former farm (Source: Cape Town City Council, Thom’s survey)
Fig. B3/2: The initials 'UTC' of the United Tobacco Company (main façade of Building Z).

Fig. B3/3: View of Building 1 (back of Building 3).

Fig. B3/4: The water tower.
Fig. 63/1: Back of Building 1, with two-storey original building and three-storey addition.

Fig. 63/2: Boston College along Klouf Street (Building 5 or administration building).
Fig. 13.7 Old picture with view of Longkoep site and water tower from Orange Street. (Source: Piet de Been)

Fig. 13.8 Current view of Longkoep site and water tower from Orange Street.
Fig. B3/9. Current view of the complex from Tableau Mountain, showing low rise development of Gardens in front and high rise development of Central Business District at the back.

Table: Possible land uses for each portion of the site. Source, presumably Lipet Properties. Longwood Cape Town Development proposals building n. 11.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Portion 1 Building No. 6</th>
<th>G1 Offices</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>House</td>
<td>J1 offices</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>House: Pre 1990</td>
<td>J2 store med risk</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portion 2 Building No. 3</td>
<td>G1 offices</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Office: 1921</td>
<td>J2 industrial med risk</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portion 3 Building No. 2</td>
<td>G1 office</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Office/Warehouse: 1918</td>
<td>A3 school</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portion 4 Building No. 4</td>
<td>J4 parking</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Westcliff School: 1914</td>
<td>G1 office</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Portion 5 Building Nos. 1 &amp; 2</td>
<td>J2 store med risk</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UFW Warehouse: 1900</td>
<td>B2 commercial med risk</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>UFW Warehouse: 1900</td>
<td>J4 entertainment (restaurant only)</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Building No. 8</td>
<td>J2 store med risk</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Boiler house and engine room</td>
<td>G1 office</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Fig. B3/11: View from roof of Building 1 over the entire parking lot at the back.

Fig. H3/12: View of the new parking bays in front of Building 1 and Building 2, on the location of the demolished Bermore house (after the conversion).
Fig. B3/13  Plan of 1990 indicating the parking after the conversion and the location of the buildings on the site that were demolished to increase the amount of parking space: storage area (Building 4), substation (Building 11), 'Barmera' House (Building 8) (Source: Piet de Vries)

Fig. B3/14  The boiler house.
Fig. 33/15: Interior of ballet house, view from new mezzanine floor.

Fig. 33/16: A typical floor plan before the conversion, ground floor of Building 1 (Sources and reference).
Fig. B3/17: Internal subdivisions in one of the open-plan spaces, original structure partly visible.

Fig. B3/18: First floor of Building 2 with the two portions divided by a firewall. [Source: Piet de Beer]
Fig. 63/19: Part of Building 2 with water towers at the back, showing the red face brick with white plastered bands.

Fig. 63/20: A section through Building 2, showing the structure (Source: Piet de Beer).

Fig. 63/21: Detail of the ‘jointless construction’ (with steel columns and wooden ceilings).
Fig. B3/24 Façade of Building I showing the pricked-in windows.

Fig. B3/25 The interior of Café Baretto: respect for industrial look.

Fig. B3/26: View of an old fire door (original location).
Fig. B3/27: Detail of an old trepan (reused as part of a wall).

Fig. B3/28: Supposed catchment with its thick walls (Building 2).

Fig. B3/29: Plan indicating where site was opened up after the conversion and showing entrances (based on map provided by Piet de Beer).
Fig. B3.30. View of first entrance with gate along Park Road, next to Building 2.

Fig. B3.31. View of second entrance with gate along Park Road (left).
Fig. 33/32: View from the first entrance along Park Road towards Building 2 and new parking area.

Fig. 33/33: View of new additions of Boston College.
APPENDIX B4: THE SOUTH AFRICAN BREWERIES, NEWLANDS
Fig. 84/1: Map of Malenstjern Estate and surrounding estates, showing brewery of 1859 and the distillery of 1863 (ca. 1863) (Source: Land Survey Department of Cape Town)
Fig. B4/2: Map showing Matjiesfontein Brewery and surroundings at the time when Ollson bought the Matjiesfontein Estate (ca. 1891) (Source: Cape Archives M2/491)

Fig. B4/1: An aerial view of Matjiesfontein in ca. 1930. With maltings of 1898 (3), Matjiesfontein Brewery of 1860 (5) and new brewery buildings. (Source: Cape Archives AG 4159)
Fig. 14/A. South African Brewery site in 1948, showing the malthouse of 1898, the Mariendal Brewery of 1899 and new brewery buildings (Source: Land Survey Department of Cape Town)
Fig. 34.5: View of the excavations integrated in visitors' tour

Fig. 34.6: View across upper deck of new parking (from top of Manndaski Skovene)

Fig. B4/7: Plan of landscaped space around reused buildings (Source: National Monuments Council Archive, File 9/2111/0133)
Fig. B4/8. View from new visitors walkway towards new shop.

Fig. B4/9. View inside one of the exhibition spaces.

Fig. B4/10. One of the exhibition spaces in the mall house showing the original structure.

Fig. B4/11. Detail of new elevator designed by conversion architects.
Fig. B4/12: North elevation of converted Mainendal Brewery (Source: Architecture SA, September-October 1995, p. 14)

Fig. B4/13: North elevation of Malthouse with kiln of 1898 (Source: Architecture SA, September-October 1995, p. 14)
Fig. B4/14: View of original wooden malt hopper and new visitors' walkway (top level of Mariendal Brewery)

Fig. B4/15: Part of original wooden malt hopper and the new visitors' walkway (Mariendal Brewery)

Fig. B4/16: View of original hot water tank (Mariendal Brewery)
Fig. B4/14: Section through Marrickville Brewery of 1859 showing descending tank. (Source: Architecture SA, September-October 1985, p. 13)

Fig. B4/15: Detail of an excavated water pipe, displayed in the museum.

Fig. B4/16: New entrance to Marrickville Brewery, also showing new elevator.
Fig. B4/20: Highlighting of the original structure.

Fig. B4/21: View of 'cleaned up' original structure on top level of Mariendahl Brewery.

Fig. B4/22: Part of original fabric, left in its half-demolished state.
Fig. B4/23: View of excavations integrated in visitors' tour.

Fig. B4/24: View of integrated excavations.

Fig. B4/25: Floor plans of the Marienbad Brewery; dotted line indicates route to be followed by visitors (Source: Architecture SA, September-October 1996, p. 15).
Fig. 84/26: New walkway integrated in old fabric.

Fig. 84/27: View from under covered walkway towards beer tank and the Mariendahl Brewery, water feature on the left.
Fig. 34.31: Entrance to site, before conversion. "South African Breweries Information Display in the South African Breweries visitors centre, Newlands.

Fig. 34.32: Entrance to site after conversion, with security gate and fence
Fig. B4/33: View of the new brewery from Main Road, with fence surrounding entire South African Breweries site.

Fig. B4/34: View of site from Main Road.
Fig. B4/36: Surface skylight in roof covering excavated area